POLI'S

Next week's bill at Poli's is well put together and has features that will be sure to appeal to all the Poli patrons. The full list of attractions that will be presented for next week is as follows:

Moore & Young—Two young ladies with some very attractive gowns, and fine up-to-date singing.
Fred Dupres—Monologue comedian with a lot of fine parodies and funny sayings.
Mr. and Mrs. Perkins Fisher—These two old friends will present a rural ballet.

playlet entitled "The Half Way House."
Helm Children—Two of the greatest child actors on the American stage.
Silvers, assisted by Artie Nelson—Silvers is the one time clown star of Barnum & Bailey's circus and the New York Hippodrome. He is a great laugh producer in his pantomime work, "The Case of the Cat."
Clifford & Burke—Black face singing and dancing comedians.
Grigolatti Aerial Ballet.
The troupe is one of the great acts. It will surely startle the patrons. It is the world famous Grigolatti Aerial Ballet.

Established 1857.

A Muff is a comforting affair when Jack Frost is ready to bite the fingers, and if the mere idea of keeping warm and looking well is considered it need not be expensive. Of course there are furs of luxury, Black Lynx, Fox, and rich brown Mink, and the lustrous Persian Lamb, which are beautiful and a treasure to possess, but should one desire less costly furs there are the Sable Fox, Pony, Caracul, and Wolf. Prices run from $5.00 to $55.00 and up.

In dainty Lingerie garments, dotted swiss plays its part this season. A pretty nightgown of plain soft nainsook is low-necked and trimmed with Valenciennes insertion and edging, while the short puffed sleeves are of dotted swiss muslin. It is $1.25.
A little French Corset Cover is of dotted muslin, trimmed with lace edging and run with ribbons. $1.00.

Some genuine Madeira Handkerchiefs just arrived are the daintiest ever. They are hand embroidered with tiny scalloped edges and small eyelets, wreaths and festoons are in the corners. The workmanship is exquisite. 50 cts. they are. A good chance for gifts.

All the Wool Things for babies' winter wear are in. Warm leggings that come up to the waist are in white, light gray and red. Little straps hold them well down over the feet. There are sweaters, wool saques, and toboggan caps that come down over the ears. Pretty and comfortable things for the babies.

"To wish you a Merry Christmas," and we say it and write it a hundred times each season. To send as greeting to friends away there is nothing more appropriate or in such excellent taste as the Raphael House Cards. They are beautifully embossed and illuminated, or tinted in water colors, and are to be printed with the sender's name. Some are in "olde, olde Englyshe" style as to pictures and text. Come and see the book of samples at the Stationery Section. Orders should be placed early.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

At the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Boettger, 1097 Stratford avenue, Carl Henry, aged 13 years, died yesterday morning.

He was a promising youth, a favorite among his friends, a member of the Lincoln School Dramatic Corps and a member of the Boys' brigade of the German Reformed Church. His father, L. E. Boettger, was formerly secretary of the Century Company.

VERDICT FOR DEFENDANT IN DOOR-SLAMMING SUIT

The jury in the case of Laura Lyke vs. L. I. Rosenberg, at six, in the New Superior court before Judge Gager yesterday returned, after a short deliberation, a verdict for defendant.

Plaintiff in this case claimed $250 damages from injuries sustained by having a door slammed against her in defendant's store on Congress avenue in the Elm City.

REFORMATORY BIDS BEING KEPT SECRET

Waterbury, Nov. 6.—John P. Elton, secretary of the State Reformatory commission says that while bids have been received for the proposed reformatory site, the commission has decided to give out no information concerning them. He said that the commission had not decided upon a date for consideration of the table.

TWO HORSES BURN

Derby, Nov. 6.—A house and barn owned by James M. Brinley were totally destroyed by fire last night. The buildings were on the outskirts of the town and the fire which started from an overheated stove had gained such headway when the fire department arrived that it was impossible to save them. Two horses were burned and the total loss will amount to $2,000 with no insurance.

MAN HANGS HIMSELF BECAUSE OF SICK WIFE

Hartford, Nov. 6.—Dependent over the poor health of his wife, Andrew G. Partridge, fifty-one years old, committed suicide by hanging at his home 238 Asylum street last night. Partridge placed a rope around his neck attaching the loose end to a transom and then jumped from a chair breaking his neck. He is survived by his wife, who is in a Springfield hospital.
